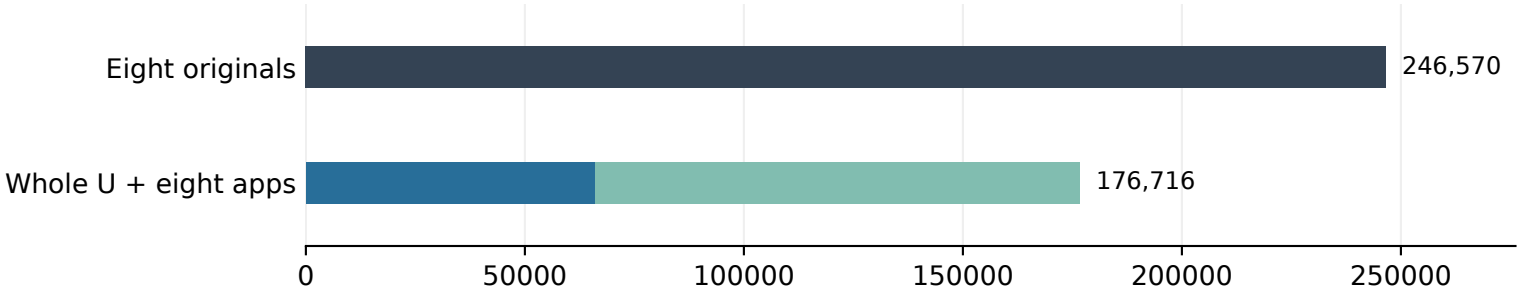
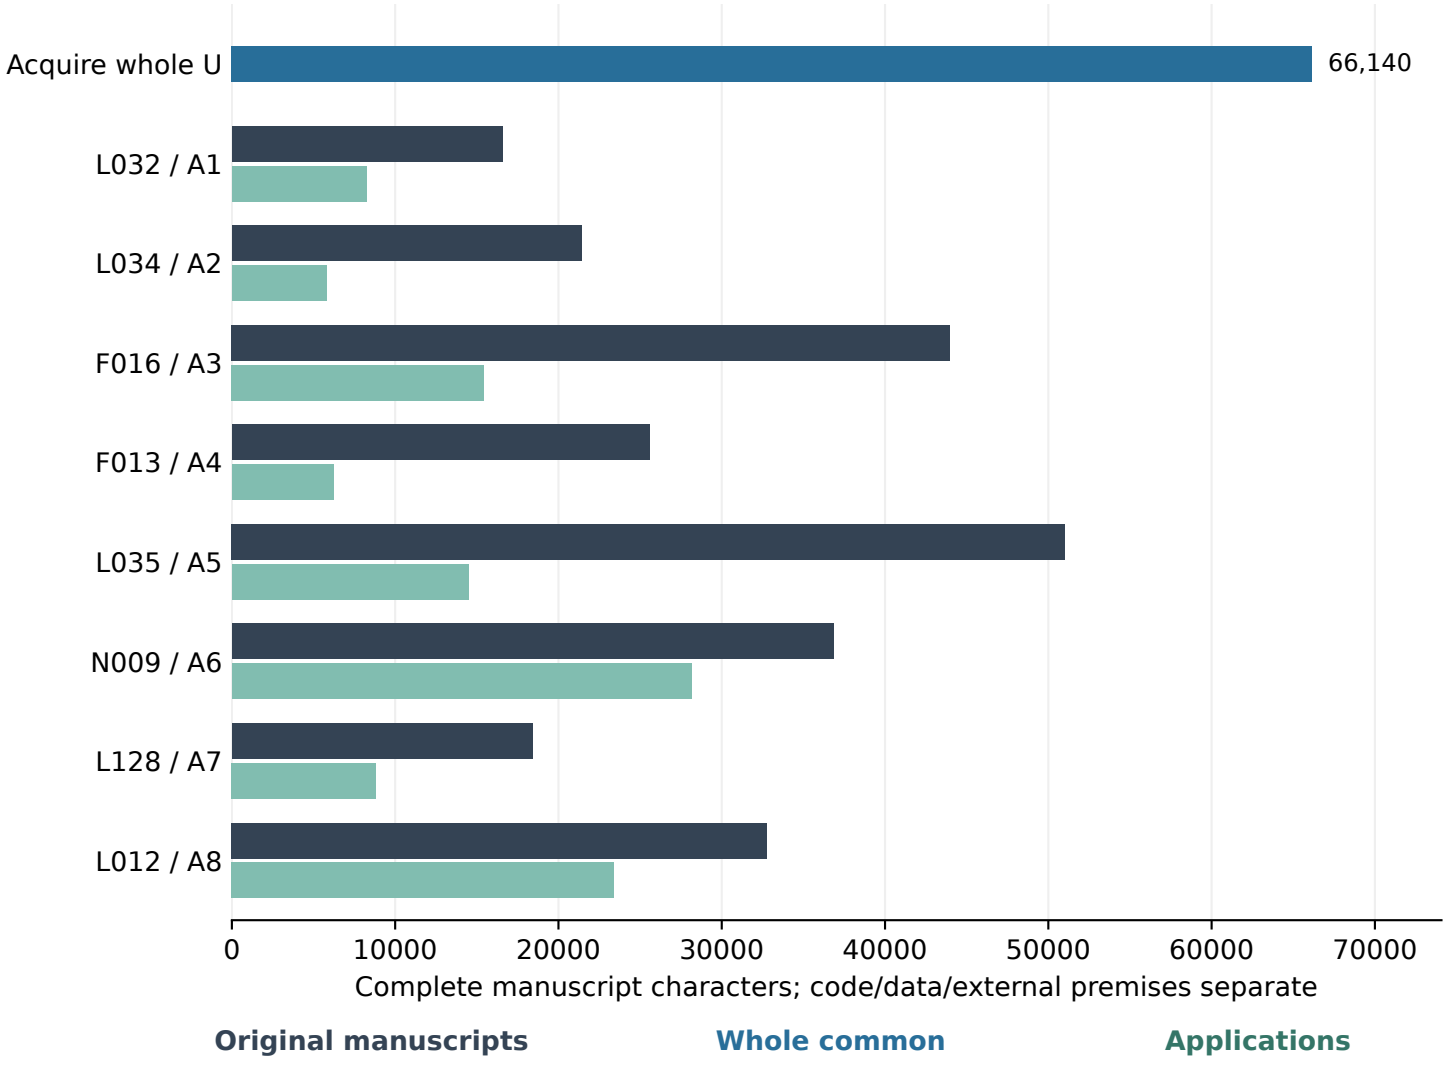
One common theory and eight complete applications

Calibrated selected NFC nonspace characters · all axes start at zero





Conditional applications assume whole U and all actual required computation, presentation data and retained mathematical premises already acquired.