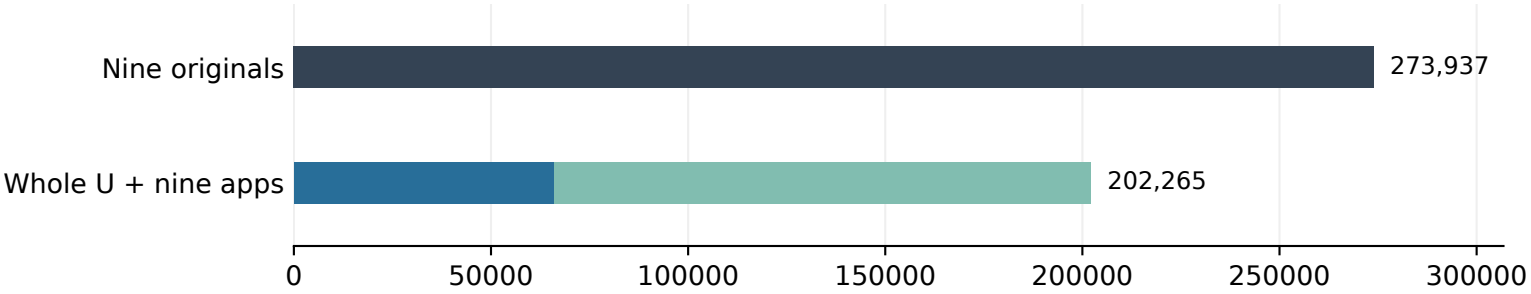
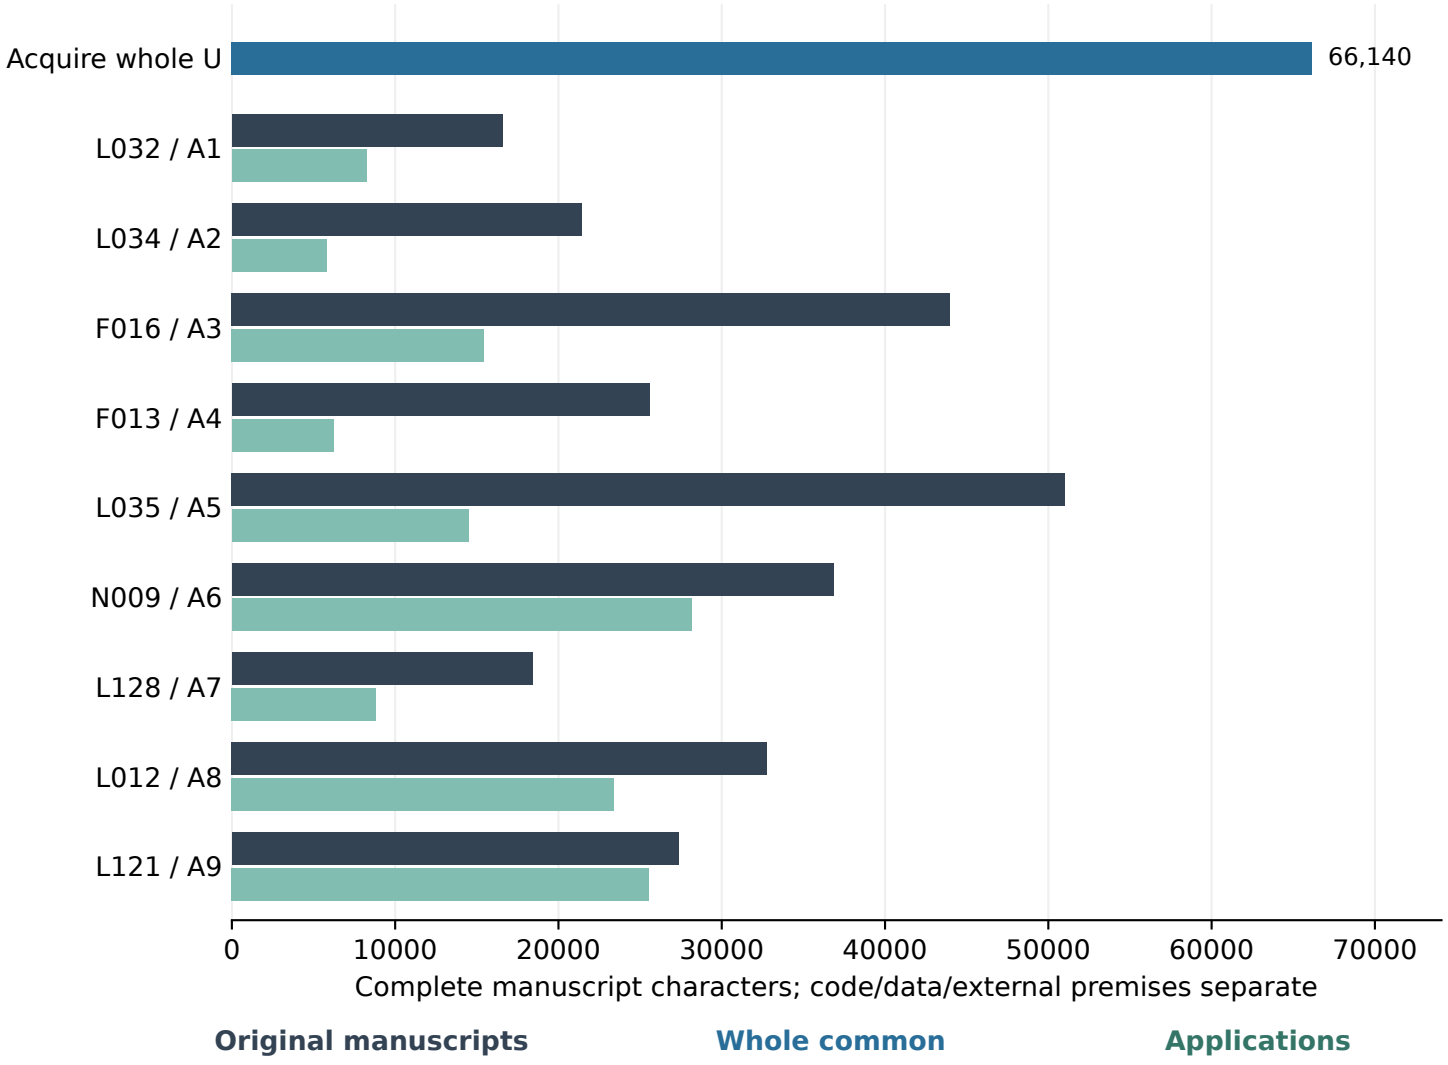
One common theory and nine complete applications

Calibrated selected NFC nonspace characters · cost axes start at zero





Conditional applications assume whole U and all actual required computation, presentation data and retained mathematical premises already acquired.